Disclaimer

This Mapping of sustainability matters to topical disclosures (Q&A ID 177) by EFRAG provides non-authoritative and accompanies the European Sustainability Reporting Standards (ESRS), as stipulated in Article 19a and 29a of Directive 2013/34/EU (the Accounting Directive). This means that if anything in this document appears to contradict any requirement or explanation in ESRS, ESRS take precedence. This Mapping of sustainability matters to topical disclosures (Q&A ID 177) is issued following EFRAG's due process for such non-authoritative documents and under the sole responsibility of EFRAG.

EFRAG assumes no responsibility or liability whatsoever for the content or any consequences or damages directly, indirectly or incidentally arising from following the advice or guidance contained in this document. Users of this document are advised to exercise their own judgment in applying ESRS. Information contained in this document should not be substituted for the services of an appropriately qualified professional.

This Mapping of sustainability matters to topical disclosures (Q&A ID 177) has been developed for use by large listed and unlisted companies that are subject to ESRS. It is therefore not intended for use by non-listed small- and medium-sized enterprises (SMEs), which may use the upcoming Voluntary SME standard.

This Mapping of sustainability matters to topical disclosures (Q&A ID 177) relates to the sector agnostic ESRS as adopted by the European Commission on 31 July 2023. Sector-specific standards may add sector specifications.

The content of Mapping of sustainability matters to topical disclosures (Q&A ID 177) has been drafted to provide an answer to a specific technical question and cannot be directly extended by analogy to a different fact pattern.

About EFRAG

EFRAG's mission is to serve the European public interest in both financial and sustainability reporting by developing and promoting European views in the field of corporate reporting. EFRAG builds on and contributes to progress in corporate reporting. In its sustainability reporting activities, EFRAG provides technical advice to the European Commission in the form of draft European Sustainability Reporting Standards (ESRS) elaborated under a robust due process and supports the effective implementation of ESRS. EFRAG seeks input from all stakeholders and obtains evidence about specific European circumstances throughout the standard-setting process. Its legitimacy is built on excellence, transparency, governance, due process, public accountability and thought leadership. This enables EFRAG to speak convincingly, clearly, and consistently, and be recognised as the European voice in corporate reporting and a contributor to global progress in corporate reporting.

EFRAG is funded by the European Union through the Single Market Programme in which the EEA-EFTA countries (Norway, Iceland and Liechtenstein), as well as Kosovo participate. Any views and opinions expressed are however those of the author(s) only and do not necessarily reflect those of the European Union, the European Commission or of countries that participate in the Single Market Programme. Question ID 177 – Mapping sustainability matters (ESRS 1 AR 16) with Disclosure Requirements

Release date

November 2024

Question asked

Is there a mapping link between the sustainability matters listed in ESRS 1 paragraph AR 16 and the Disclosure Requirements in the topical standards or must judgement be used in deciding the disclosures required for a material sustainability matter?

Key terms

Mapping sustainability matters; Disclosure Requirements

ESRS reference

ESRS 1 paragraphs 25, 30, and AR 16

Background

ESRS 1 paragraph 25 states: ‘Performing a materiality assessment (see sections 3.4 Impact materiality and 3.5 Financial materiality) is necessary for the undertaking to identify the material impacts, risk and opportunities to be reported.’

ESRS 1 paragraph 30 states: ‘When the undertaking concludes that a sustainability matter is material as a result of its materiality assessment on which ESRS 2 IRO-1, IRO-2 and SBM-3 set Disclosure Requirements, it shall:

- (a) disclose information according to the Disclosure Requirements (including Application Requirements) related to that specific sustainability matter in the corresponding topical and sector-specific ESRS’.

ESRS 1 paragraph AR 16 (containing a list of sustainability matters) states: ‘When performing its materiality assessment, the undertaking shall consider the following list of sustainability matters covered in the topical ESRS. When, as a result of the undertaking’s materiality assessment (see ESRS 2 IRO-1), a given sustainability matter in this list is assessed to be material, the undertaking shall report according to the corresponding Disclosure Requirements of the relevant topical ESRS.’

IG 1 Materiality Assessment paragraphs 77 and 78 state:

- ‘77. The process of identification of the potential matters may start with the screening of the list of matters summarised in ESRS 1 paragraph AR 16 and then be complemented with additional entity-specific matters ...
78. The undertaking may also develop a “long” list of impacts, risks and opportunities relevant to its business model and upstream / downstream value chain and aggregate them following the structure provided in ESRS 1 paragraph AR 16 ...Then, the undertaking could compare the matters identified with the list in ESRS 1 AR 16 for completeness. The two approaches may be combined.'

Disclaimer on how to use this mapping

This explanation is not intended to be used as a tool to support the assessment of the materiality of sustainable topics (or matters), but it can be helpful once the material matters have been determined to support preparers to identify the Disclosure Requirements and datapoints that are linked to the matters (topics, subtopics and sub-subtopics) assessed as being material.

ESRS 1 paragraph AR 16 shall be considered when performing the materiality assessment. The materiality of each subtopic or sub-subtopic should not necessarily be assessed, when at the related topical level, the entire topic is assessed as not material, respectively; the materiality of each sub-subtopic should not necessarily be assessed when at the related sub-topic level, the entire sub-topic is assessed as not material. This is also to say that topics, subtopic or sub-subtopics shall be assessed as not material when no material impacts, risks or opportunities are identified within them.

If the undertaking has assessed entity-specific matters not listed in ESRS 1 paragraph AR 16 as material, then ESRS 1 paragraphs 11 and 30 (b), AR 1 to 5 and ESRS 1 Chapter 10.1 apply (see also IG 1 Materiality Assessment Chapter 4 How can other sources be leveraged?).

The mapping in this explanation does not imply an automatism relating to the conclusion on the materiality of a metric when the related matter has been deemed material. It is still possible for the undertaking to conclude that a metric is not material to itself despite it pertaining to a material matter. Conversely, some metrics may be related to more than one subtopic. The assessment of the materiality of information requires the exercise of judgment.

The mapping in this explanation is based on the assumption that the relationship between sustainability matters across two different topical ESRS (for instance, the relationship of Climate Change and Biodiversity, or the relationship between Biodiversity and Affected communities) or the relationship between sustainability matters within one topic (for instance, the relationship between Climate change adaptation and Energy – (both ESRS E1), or the relationship between Collective Bargaining and adequate wages – (both ESRS S1)) have been evidenced by the undertaking at the level of the materiality assessment and that such interrelations will be reflected when assessing the materiality of information. For example, if an undertaking has identified negative material impacts related to ESRS S3 Affected Communities due to negative material impacts on ESRS E4 Biodiversity connected to the undertaking, this relationship would be identified when performing the materiality assessment described in ESRS 2 IRO-1. Another example is where pollution of water (ESRS E2) limits the availability of clean water (ESRS E3) and poses a threat to the state of ecosystems (ESRS E4) and water and sanitation access from communities (ESRS S3). Those links may influence the preparers' approach to identifying interrelated Disclosure Requirements when performing the materiality assessment as per ESRS 2 IRO-1.

Answer

If a sustainability matter (i.e. topic, subtopic or sub-subtopic) listed in ESRS 1 paragraph AR 16 is assessed as being material given that a material impact, risk or opportunity has been identified for that matter, the general process to determine the information to disclose can be described as follows:

- (a) for policies, actions and targets the undertaking shall include the information required by the corresponding Disclosure Requirements in topical standards as well as the information required by ESRS 2 Minimum Disclosure Requirements on policies, actions and targets in compliance with ESRS 1 paragraph 33;

- (b) For metrics, the undertaking shall assess the materiality of information in compliance with ESRS 1 paragraph 31 and 34. Assessing the materiality of information helps determine which metrics (or which datapoints of metrics Disclosure Requirements) are material and as such should be disclosed. If a Disclosure Requirement contains a number of metrics datapoints, the undertaking may conclude that one or more of those datapoints are not material given its specific facts and circumstances (for example ESRS E2 Disclosure Requirement E2-4 - Pollution of air, water and soil that contain a number of datapoints).

To support the application of ESRS 1 paragraph 30, this explanation articulates the relationship between the sustainability matters described in ESRS 1 paragraph AR 16, and the Disclosure Requirements in the topical standards. In addition to disclosing information from topical ESRS, the undertaking shall also include entity-specific information when this is necessary (ESRS 1 paragraph 11).

This explanation includes a flowchart, narrative content and mapping tables.

The mapping is aimed at supporting undertakings in determining the Disclosure Requirements (including the associated Application Requirements for such disclosures; refer to EFRAG's IG3, 'List of ESRS datapoints for a detailed mapping') related to a specific material sustainability matter in the corresponding topical ESRS as required in ESRS 1 paragraph 30.

The mapping tables cover the topical standards. They do not include:

- (a) ESRS 1 General Requirements;
- (b) ESRS 2 General Disclosures, as ESRS 2 disclosures are to be disclosed irrespective of the outcome of the materiality assessment (ESRS 1 paragraph 29). By extension, they do not include the ESRS 2 IRO-1-related disclosures that are included in the topical standards (refer to the environmental topics), for which the treatment specified in ESRS 2 paragraph 2 is applicable.; or
- (c) entity-specific (and sector-specific) matters whereby the undertaking shall add metrics if it concludes that 'an impact, risk or opportunity is not covered or not covered with sufficient granularity by an ESRS but is material due to specific facts and circumstances' (refer to ESRS 1 paragraph 11 and 30 (b)).

For metrics, which can be either quantitative or qualitative, there is no systematic 'one-to-one' relationship between a matter (as captured by ESRS 1 paragraph AR 16) and a topical Disclosure Requirement.

Some metrics provide information that support the understanding of any of the related subtopics or sub-subtopics in a topical standard. This is the case, for instance, for ESRS S1-6 and S1-7 on the characteristics of own workforce or S1-17 on incidents, complaints and severe human rights impacts where own workforce or any related subtopic or sub-subtopic is assessed to be material for the undertaking.

Some metrics are directly related to one specific subtopic or sub-subtopic. This is the case, for instance, for:

- (a) the subtopic Management of relationships with suppliers including payment practices, which is related to ESRS G1-6 Payment practice;
- (b) many sub-subtopics of ESRS S1, which are directly covered by specific Disclosure Requirements. For instance, the sub-subtopic health and safety is directly related to the Disclosure Requirement S1-14 Health and safety; and
- (c) the subtopic Microplastics for which the relevant metric is embedded in the broader Disclosure Requirement ESRS E2-4 Pollution of air, water and soil.

The social standards ESRS S2 to S4 do not have standardised metrics beyond the Disclosure Requirements of policies, actions and targets nor do the corresponding provisions in ESRS 2 MDR-P, MDR-A, or MDR-T.

The mapping in this document takes these differences of architecture of topical standards into account. It provides an overview of the direct links that exist between matters and Disclosure Requirements or datapoints where such direct links exist.

The mapping of ESRS 1 paragraph AR 16 to Disclosure Requirements does not link matters addressed in datapoints except in the case where subtopics or sub-subtopics are directly mentioned in a datapoint (and not in the title of the Disclosure Requirements). This is the case, for instance, for microplastics in ESRS E2, for water withdrawals and water discharges in ESRS E3 or for waste in ESRS E5.

Fig 1: Flowchart for determining the Disclosure Requirements once the material sustainability matters from ESRS 1 paragraph AR16 have been identified (to note: this flowchart does not cover entity-specific metrics disclosures)

Mapping tables

The tables below map ESRS 1 paragraph AR 16 to the respective ESRS Disclosure Requirements. They do not cover information regarding where in the sustainability statement the information shall be disclosed.

The mapping is only meant to direct links from a subtopic in AR 16 to DRs in topical ESRS. It is to be noted that sustainability matters in ESRS 1 paragraph AR 16 are often interrelated. Based on the facts and circumstances of an undertaking, the materiality of a specific subtopic or sub-subtopic of a topical ESRS can trigger reporting requirements in other topical ESRS (please refer to the Disclaimer section of this explanation).

In this Section, we illustrate the disclosure requirement that are connected to a specific matter/topic, i.e. that have to be considered in the assessment performed under paragraph 34 of ESRS 1 when a given matter/topic is material, in order to ultimately determine which datapoints are reported.

E1 Climate Change

The following can be noted:

- (a) The subtopics of energy and climate change mitigation are closely linked. The datapoints in the Disclosure Requirement E5-1 Energy Consumption and mix cover aspects (energy use) linked to climate change mitigation; therefore they are connected to climate change mitigation
- (b) E1-1 Transition plan is connected to climate change mitigation
- (c) Disclosure Requirements or datapoints regarding financial resilience (ESRS paragraphs to be included) are connected to both climate change mitigation and adaptation
- (d) E1-7 GHG removals and GHG mitigation projects financed through carbon credits is not expected to be disclosed unless the undertaking uses such financing tools
- (e) E1-8 Internal carbon pricing is expected to be disclosed only when the undertaking has implemented such mechanism.

S1 to S4 Policies, Actions and Targets (PAT) and Processes

The table below maps ESRS paragraph AR 16 matters (topic, sub- and sub-subtopics) to ESRS S1 to S4 Disclosure requirements related to policies, actions and targets and processes.

S1 Own workforce

The topic covers fundamental rights that are classified as sub-subtopics in ESRS S1 and ESRS S2 which are interconnected. Such connections are not explicit in the ESRS S1 and are presented in the table below. When mapping the disclosures to report, the sub-subtopics and/or metrics related to fundamental rights should be considered when determining what to disclose if the topic own workforce is considered material (refer to the table below), as they cover different aspects of the matter own workforce, and as such, they all relate to own workforce as a topic.

In addition, the metrics on S1-6, S1-7 and S1-17 are mapped to the own workforce directly. In the case of S1-6 and S1-7, these provide contextual information that supports the understanding of the information reported in the other ESRS S1 disclosures, and they form the basis for calculation of other metrics, as noted in the objective of the two disclosures.
